CLASS OF 2011

Members of the Class of 2011 received their diplomas on June 4, as the fourth class to graduate from the Upper School. The graduation ceremony was the culmination of four years of hard work and fun filled with friendships and memories. Senior activities included a wonderful starlit prom aboard the Catherine Marie, the awards ceremony, and a family picnic for the graduates, their families, and their out of town guests.

Graduation at Indian Creek centers on the graduates. They elect a speaker from among their numbers to recall the memorable moments of their high school careers. The faculty choose a student who best represents the senior class to give the class farewell. This year Amarys Williams took her classmates and the audience on a walk down memory lane. Alex Wehrenberg with humor and pathos said farewell. Graduation Speaker, Gerard J.P. Connolly, Head of the Upper School, spoke to the graduates. He shared touching memories that helped form his character leaving them with two messages: from Sister Mary Grace- you can't have your cake and eat it, too, and from his father- shake hands and get an extra plate.

Members of the senior class are selected for recognition at the awards ceremony. Two students received the state scholars award. Fifteen earned the Indian Creek Merit Award for their enthusiasm, academic growth, and positive attitude during their time in the Upper School. Students were recognized with departmental and athletic awards. Two students received the C. Markland Kelly, Jr. Athletic Service Award while eight earned their varsity letters for the participation in eight or more seasons.

Only two awards are given at graduation. The Anne C. Chambers Achievement Award went to Duncan Jones as the parallel program student who best illustrates the attributes of hard work, self-advocacy, and achievement. The Jim Clauson Award went to Andrew Judson in recognition of excellence in service to the Indian Creek Community.

Indian Creek School is proud of its newest alumni. Their achievements are important. We look forward to hearing from them as they all move on to college. Most importantly we are proud of the people they have become in their years at Indian Creek. We look forward to hearing from them as they Remember Their Roots at Indian Creek.
